Artificial Teeth Without Plates.

DR. C. L. ANDERSON

Burnserly Expert of the SHEFFIELD TOOTH CROWN CO., New York city, has removed to 548 TW ELPTH STREET NORTHWEST, having become associated with DR. J. B. TEN EVCR.

By this arrangement I am enabled to devote myself cachatyely to my specialty of TOOTH CROWNS AND ARTIFICIAL TEETH WITHOUT PLATES. WITHOUT PLATES.

THIS SYSTEM entirely obviates the necessity of extracting teeth, does away with artificial teeth, prevents the suffering caused by decay of the teeth and consequent extraction of the roots (producing a change in the expression of the face and month) and avoids the pain and excessive annoyance of a plate.

By this method roots and badly decayed teeth, which are firm in position, may be restored to perfect usefulness and beauty, performing the office of mustication like the natural teeth. C. L. Anderson, D. D. S. CARINET-SIZE photographs, only $1.50 per dozen. Christer & Handy, 420 Seventh St. n. w

THE Democrats of the House claim to be anxious to pass the Blair Educational bill. now before the Senate

How would it do for Mr. Springer, who s investigating the expenditures in the alleged Department of Justice, to inquire whether Brewster Cameron, who was conirmed three weeks ago to be receiver of public moneys at Tueson, Arizona, is drawing pay or is the beneficiary of the office while he is still here?

IT is very evident that George Bliss, the New York 1-r who was employed by the Government in the prosecution of the late Star-Route cases and who has recently submitted a few remarks before the Springer Committee, is not the only witness who is conomically inclined toward the truth.

THE call for a meeting of the leading Democrats in Baltimore the latter part of this month to discuss what is the best course nationally to be pursued by the party, is the subject of a great deal of Congres sional talk. Among those invited to the meeting are men who entertain the most divergent views on the subjects of party policy. But as they are men both in and WM. H. MORRISON, out of Congress, it is thought that the result of the conference will be more satisfactory and stronger than the caucus of the House or a joint caucus of the House and Senate could be. In fact the general impression is that such a conference cannot fail to go far in reconciling the differences existing among leaders. It is looked forward to as in reality very likely to be the practical formulation of the party's course in the coming campaign. It is therefore most generally approved.

> JUDGE FYAN is very right in his declaration that Mr. Mitchell should be allowed to testify before the Springer Committee concerning the efforts of the Government's attorneys put forth to secure indictments of the Star-Routers. Bliss has impugned the honor of the jury by saying it was bribed. Now, the only recourse Mr. Mitchell has is in showing that there was no necessity in bribing the jury; that the Government not only did not make out a case before the grand jury, but that it did not try to. This can be shown.

Mr. Springer, recognizing the point to be carried, aye, the double point, coincides with Judge Fyan.

The majority of the committee should not be swerved in its duty by the minority, which would shield the attorneys for the Government at the peril of the reputations of never so many good men.

WHATEVER may have been the sincerity of the Hon. James Gillespie Blaine's asseverations that he was not a candidate for the Presidency, the recent action of those who honor and admire him in the great States of New York and Pennsylvania makes him not only a candidate, but the most formidable of all the candidates that have been mentioned. For the sake of argument, it may be assumed that Mr. Blaine has lost none of the strength which has been displayed in his behalf at two successive National Conventions. There is no reason to suppose that he has suffered any such loss, because the conditions which gave him the support he developed at Cincinnati and at Chicago remain unchanged, unless, indeed, their significance has been increased by the events of the last three years. From this point of view, therefore, it becomes eyident that if Mr. Blaine has held his own in the States which gave him their votes in 1876 and again in 1880, the recent movements in Pennsylvania and New York indicate that he is gaining this year on ground hitherto in the hands of his foes. When it is recollected that he lacked only four and a half per cent, of the total vote to secure the nomination in a former convention, while his assured and accredited gains in New York and Pennsylvania alone already amount to nearly eight per cent. of the entire vote of the next convention, it is evident that unless serious defection can be wrought by his adversaries among the cohorts that have twice followed him, he is at this moment as good as nominated. It is worth while to remark in this connection that while the gains of which we speak are notorious and undeniable there has been no report of losses in any other quarter. Such reports may come in. But the preliminary work of delegate-choosing is in process overywhere, and if Mr. Blaine's adversaries hope or expect to make diversions to offset his inroads into New York and Pennsylvania they have no time to

Whether the Republican party would display wisdom or organize victory by nominating Mr. Blaise this year is a question which we will not now discuss. The salient fact in his history is that when he was Secretary of State be inaugurated, for the first time in forty years, a policy with respect to the continental importance and responsibility of this Republic which no American not in foreign pay or not corrupted by alien influences could help admiring and indorsing. And when, by force of tragic circumstances, Mr. Blaine was compelled to give way to his successor, the latter, as if to emphasize Blaine's glory, adopted a role of negation and inertia, the contemplation of which is enough to make any patriotic citizen sick at the stomach! Thus we come to remark that if Blaine should be nominated his success would be mainly due to the popularity of his "gamecock" foreign policy, and his election, if that should happen, would amount to serving notice on England, Bismarck and the world generally that the United States had assumed the dignity and responsibility, as well as the size and strength, of a "great power." It is by no means certain that the election of a President on that basis would be an unmixed evil.

The Unites States Sonate yesterday resumed consideration of Mr. Biair's Education bill. An amendment offered by Mr. Hoar was adopted, reducing the amount to be appropriated from $105,00,000 to $77,000,000, and the years in which the fund is to be given from tent of eight. Another amendment provides that equal opportunity for education shall be given to all children of the State. Other amendments were also adopted and the bill was passed.

THE ROD AND GUN CLUB. By HARRY CAS-TLEMAN, Porter & Coates, Philadelphia, pub-lishers. Received from William Ballantyne. The young people owe Mr. Castleman much gratitude for the pleasure he has afforded them by his writings, and they will doubtless gain much knowledge and fun from a porusal of "The Bod and Gun Club."

LIFE OF OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES, By E. E. BROWN, D. Lothrop & Co., Boston, publishers, Price, $1.50. publishers. Price, $1.50.
In his labor of love Mr. Brown tells the story of the life of the great poet and wit simply and without fulsome adornment. The selections from the subject's works are taken with a judictous and appreciative hand, and the work teems with personal anecdotes showing the real nature of Dr. Holmes with photographic truthfulness. Mr. Brown's book should be read by all those who have been delighted by the magic pen of the most popular of American verse writers.

Funeral of the Late Minister Hunt. The funeral of the late Minister Hunt took place this afternoon, the Navy Department be-ing closed out of respect to the deceased, and ing closed out of respect to the deceased, and many flags in the city being at half-mast.

The services took place at 2 o'clock, at Mr. John's Episcopal Church. Mr. Leonard officiating, and the cortege then proceeded to Oak Hill Cemetery, the Marine Band, Marine Corps and batteries from the Arsenal acting as an escott, and the saltors from the Despatch as body-bearers. The pall-bearers were those mentioned yesterday, and also General Sheridan and Judge McCammon. The mourners included the widow, daughters and sous of the deceased and the leading officials, the Cabinet, the Senators and Representatives, members of the Diplomatic Corps, officers of the Army and Navy, etc.

Evangelist Kraemer Arrested in Battimore.

The Baltimore Sun to-day says: "Mr. Samuel G. Kraemer, who is quite well known as an evangelist, was arrested yeaterday on a warrant sworn out some time ago by Mrs. Laura Yeakle, charging him with assaulting her on the 4th of hast February. Mr. Kraemer and Mrs. Yeakle lived in the same house, No. 30 Woodward street, and Mrs. Yeakle stated that during an encounter between her husband and Mr. Kraemer ahe had interfered and been assaulted. She obtained the warrant, but as Mr. Kraemer went to Washington, whence he returned only a faw days ago, he was not arrested until yesterday. The hearing was set for next Thursday afternoon."

THE NATIONAL THEATHE.

A fine audience assembled at the National Theatre last evening to witness the initial performance of "Sam' of Fosen" with Mr. M. B. Curtis in the leading role. The company is good and the comedy highly amusing.

To-morrow afternoon a special matinee will be given, M'lle Abina De Mer appearing in her new and original conception of "Camille."

FORD'S OPERA-HOUSE. "Princes Ida" was witnessed by a large and appreciative audience at the Opera-House last evening. The opera was finely but upon the siage, and rendered admirably. It will run throughout the week. THE THEATRE COMIQUE

The programme at the Comique this week is replete with interest and amusement. The sensational extravaganza of Harry Montague's "Antics" is extremely sensational and attractive.
